Ike Returns To Business As Usual After Brilliant Inauguration Day

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's back to business as usual today for President Eisenhower after a brilliant inaugural celebration, crowned by appearance at four gay, diamond-studded galas honoring the start of his second term.

They kept him on the go until nearly 1 a.m.—and he seemed to enjoy every minute.

With his lady on his arm, he left the White House soon after 10 o'clock, started at the Washington Armory and showed up at three hotels in the next 2½ hours.

Dance orchestras played, colors were trooped, thousands of people promenaded past the presidential boxes, and celebrated singers gave their all with everything from the National Anthem to "The Blue Danube" and "Mr. Wonderful."

A Picture of Motion

The President was a picture of perpetual motion.

He bowed, waved, smiled, bobbed up and down from the chairs, gave one-and two-handed salutes to acquaintances, and fell into at least one deep conversation.

That was with Secretary of State Dulles, one of his guests in the presidential box at the Stater Hotel. They put their heads to-lem resident. Recipient of the award will be announced at the dinner.

As the leader of Ohio's 8,800 Jaycees, Blasier's talk will highlight his organization's work in the fields of civic improvement, youth welfare and Americanism.

Blasier is a member of the North Canton Jaycees and served as local vice president and president, before his election, in 1955, as

Board To Seek Bids On Balloting Printing

The Columbiana County Election Board today issued a call to printers for bids on ballots for the May 7 primary elections.

The bids will be received until 2 p.m. Feb. 11, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, explained. Feb. 11 also is "sufficiency day" for petitions filed by candidates before the Feb. 6 deadline for the primaries. The board also will meet that day to grant ballot places to all candidates whose petitions meet the requirements. A contract for furnishing poll books also will be awarded.

Specifications on the ballot requirements were sent to job printing firms in Leetonia, Salem, Lisbon, East Liverpool and Wellsville, O'Hanlon said.

Today is the deadline for villages to certify to the election board if they have acted under a new law that permits them to combine the offices of clerk and treasurer, O'Hanlon said. Certifications have been received from Lisbon and New Waterford. In the future the office will be known as clerk-treasurer.

The changes will not take effect until Jan. 1 at the end of the present incumbents' terms. The new law that permits combining the offices required the villages to certify the changes to the election board not later than 10 days before the primaries in order to make provisions for the May balloting.

Plans Completed For First Annual 'Y' Elector Session

Nine hundred letters will be sent out Wednesday to YWCA charter members announcing the first annual YWCA elector meeting scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 31, at 7:30 p.m. in the Salem High School Auditorium.

A slate of 24 nominees for the board of directors has been prepared by the YWCA steering committee and the list will be inserted in the announcement to members. Nominees for the board may be named from the floor at the meeting, according to Mrs. Frank Brian, general chairman, who says all newly-nominated persons will be placed on the election ballot.

The board will be largely responsible for the development and success of Salem's Y. Mrs. Brian says, and so the election will be an important one which members are urged to attend.

Miss Lila Stringfellow of Chicago, Ill., national YWCA field staff member, and Mrs. Raymond Brenner of Youngstown, regional YWCA official, will be present at the Jan. 31 meeting to assist in formulation of a permanent operating program.

Charter memberships may be obtained up until Jan. 31 by contacting Mrs. Donald Lease, membership chairman, or Mrs. Brian.

According to Mrs. Brian, the meeting will not be closed, and interested persons may attend.

The steering committee, headed by Mrs. Brian, includes Mrs. Elton Hansell, vice chairman; Mrs. George Rogers, secretary; Eleanor McMurray, treasurer; Mary Lou Lora and Ruth Cosgrove, assistant treasurers; Mrs. Joel Sharp, constitution and bylaws; Mrs. Lease and Mrs. Leland Patterson, membership; Mrs. Lee Pelly and Mrs. Fred Cope, youth section heads.

Permanent headquarters for Salem's Y are being maintained at 511 E. State St.

State Patrol May Get New Police Powers

Bill Would Change Highway Patrolmen To Ohio State Police

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Highway Patrol—nearing its quarter-century mark—may be on its way to becoming the "Ohio State Police."

The Ohio Senate received a bill Monday night to confer full police powers on the patrol. It was offered by Sen. Robert R. Shaw (R-Franklin).

His proposal followed by only a week an admission by Gov. C. William O'Neill that he has been studying the plight the patrol faces

Mag. John Eisenhower, the President's son, and his wife Barbara were with the President. The major wore his Army dress uniform of dark blue with gold epaulettes.

At one of the last stops along the route, Mrs. Eisenhower told friends, "We've just had a lovely LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—A tragic "prank" which led to the fatal burning of one student nurse and serious injury to another was blamed on two registered nurses Monday night.

Fire Chief Earl McDaniel said Margaret R. Donovan, 24, and Mary Frances Hutchinson, 26, both of Lexington, admitted in signed statements they doused two student nurses with half a pint of ether.

The Shaw proposal would eliminate from the present law a prohibition against patrol interference in labor disputes.

The state patrol, under present law, is limited to the enforcement of laws covering motor vehicles and highways.

Patrol Helpless In Strike

Last Dec. 16, extra patrolmen guarding against violence in the southern Ohio telephone strike, had no choice but to stand inactive while a group of strike sympathizers stoned several exchanges of the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. in the Portsmouth area.

No patrol or labor leaders were available for comment on the proposal.

But the sponsor commented: "We are losing a lot of potential of a fine, well-trained organization when in some parts of the state local law enforcement is breaking down."

He obviously referred to the situation in the Portsmouth area.

But he admitted he could not say whether he has administration backing.

Another bill introduced Monday night would require one year of driver education in Ohio's 1,111 high schools as a requirement for graduation.

Such courses now are offered in 712 high schools, but are not required.

It was introduced by Rep. Kenneth F. Berry (R-Coshocton) and got immediate informal endorsement.

Boom' Taken Out Of Ohio Parade Float

WASHINGTON (AP)—Because it did not look very peaceful to the Atomic Energy Commission, a device to shoot off mock atomic bomb explosions was removed from Ohio's float in the inaugural parade Monday.

Dallas Meade, the contractor who built the float, said the device sent atomic mushroom cloud-like puffs of smoke into the air every two minutes.

He said the commission did not feel the explosions could fit in with the theme of the Ohio float—peacetime uses of atomic energy.

"Of course we consented right away not to use it," Meade said.

"Actually, it was perfectly safe. We had already cleared it with the fire marshal."

Things did not come off quite as planned for Ohio's governor in the parade, either, witnesses said.

Gov. C. William O'Neill was so intent on waving to the newsreel, still and television cameras on the other side of the street that his car was clean past the President before he remembered to turn and doff his hat to Eisenhower.

The clinic had been formally requested by the Beaver Local school Board.

Yellow Creek also requested a clinic in a letter received by Dr. Palmer, for a Salk vaccine clinic at the school. Dr. Palmer said no date has been set up as yet on the request.

Tornado Kills Eight In Eastern Oklahoma

'Prank' Brings Death To Nurse

2nd Hurt After Being Doused With Ether

GANS, Okla. (AP)—Eight persons were killed today by an out-of-season tornado that smashed this tiny farm community near the Arkansas border before dawn.

Two families were hardest hit, one counting four dead and the other three dead.

At least a dozen other persons were injured.

Two other twisters struck in eastern Oklahoma, destroying some property but there were no casualties.

The National Guard, highway patrol and county officers rushed to Gans, which has a population of about 600.

Six houses were demolished including those of the victims who were still sleeping when the twister swooped down through heavy-laden clouds.

A tornado forecast had been issued for the area by the U. S. Weather Bureau as a cold front from the Northwest swept into Oklahoma. Monday re-

Kathleen Oehler, 19, of Frankfort, died Sunday night and the other student, 23-year-old Charlotte Smith of Danville, is still on the serious list at St. Joseph's Hospital, where the incident occurred.

McDaniel said officials will confer today on the possibility of filing charges against the two. No charges were brought Monday night.

McDaniel said Miss Donovan and Miss Hutchinson told her that ether-throwing was a "nurses' prank" which had been done by others before "to make them jump." Ether feels extremely cold when in contact with the skin.

The fire chief said Miss Hutchinson admitted pouring ether in Miss Oehler's lap and Miss Donovan poured it on Miss Smith without realizing she was smoking a cigarette.

He quoted the nurses as saying Miss Smith "almost instantly went up in flames." The fire spread quickly to Miss Oehler.

The chief said the nurses immediately pulled the two students from the lounge and put out the fire with the aid of an orderly. Miss Donovan and Miss Hutchinson suffered hand burns.

USSR Calling For Ban On All Nuclear Tests

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The current U.N. disarmament debate went into its final stage today amid signs Russia would hold out for her own demand for an immediate ban on all nuclear weapons tests.

Soviet bloc speakers gave increasing evidence of this as the U.N.'s top Political Committee prepared to hear final summaries from the United States and Russia. France was to be the last speaker.

In the hope of getting at least surface unanimity, the Western Big Three and a large group of other members were preparing a resolution which contained no new proposals. It merely called for new arms talks in the U.N.'s five-nation subcommittee—the Big Four and Canada.

Local television viewers saw the Salem band come into view immediately behind Ohio's governor, C. William O'Neill.

The big Western Powers were reported seeking Soviet agreement on this resolution.

The committee has before it three specific proposals aimed at controlling nuclear blasts. Their sponsors admitted growing alarm over the effects of continued experimental explosions on a big scale.

The proposals were introduced shortly after the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission reported that the Russians had touched off at least their fifth nuclear blast since August.

The proposal by Canada, Japan and Norway for a system of advance registration with the U.N. of all nuclear blasts drew fire from Communist Czechoslovakia and White Russia. They declared it was too little to do any good and would only impede agreement on the goal of banning nuclear tests altogether.

The Soviet group was also reported dubious about Sweden's proposal that all nuclear blasts be banned until a U.N. scientific committee reports its findings on the effects of radiation—probably late in 1958. Communist sources were said to feel this did not go far enough either.

He is married and has two children.

The negotiating session broke off "indefinitely" at 6:30 a.m., and the strike which the union authorized last month began at the start of the day shift a half-hour afterward.

Not involved in the local contract dispute was American Motors' Milwaukee body plant. But a company spokesman said that the 2,500 production workers at Milwaukee had less than a full day's supply of components and would have to be sent home early.

The stumbling block in negotiations between Kenosha Local 72 and the firm involves contract language governing layoffs.

13-Year-Old Salem Boy Held For Car Theft

A 13-year-old Salem boy was apprehended by police Monday afternoon at 1:48 on the Sebring-Pine Lake road while pouring gasoline into a car he allegedly had stolen Sunday morning from Michael Kroener of 672 N. Howard Ave. while it was parked at 331 S. Broadway.

The youth was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

This is the tale of two sittings. In one city, Washington. At both ends of Pennsylvania ave. On the same afternoon, Wednesday, Jan. 16. At 2:30 p.m. a band of honest labor chiefs sat a little nately jesting and then seriously chattering with President Eisenhower.

At the same hour, men accused of senators of being a band of crooked labor officials began squirming in a Senate hearing chamber. I have many friends among the first group. Reports will tell you that the second batch hate my guts. Good. The accolade was acid. But c'est la guerre, the French say.

As the first group of labor men sat in a semi-circle around the President, they found him cheery, rose-hued in mien and cheek. They wanted help.

Mr. Eisenhower listened to the technical problems of lumberjacks, sales girls and telephone operators. He said Labor Secretary James Mitchell would draw up a bill for Congress and the warm presidential smile said, "Que sera, sera."

by our national leaders if the union chiefs had anything in common with the crowd at the other end of Pennsylvania Ave.

There, at a hearing of a subcommittee of the Government Operations Committee, began the big parade of the seamy brigade, those men who call themselves labor leaders but some of whose "organizers" have taken a swing or two at the followers of the honest labor men there in the White House.

The Wednesday hearings carried over into Thursday. Here were officials of something called the old AFL United Auto Workers Union, not to be confused with Walter Reuther's old CIO Auto Union.

The witnesses refused, under oath, to admit they were even members of a union, although they were listed as this union's officers.

They refused to give their occupations or businesses. They refused to say whether they had received checks endorsed by them and drawn on the union and marked for organizational expenses.

Later they wandered into the offices of "Mr. Sam" Rayburn, Lyndon Johnson, and William Knowland, and talked, too, about the gracious agreement they had found at lunch with Vice-President Dick Nixon just before they had gone in to see the President.

The witness refused to conform or deny this.

One witness also refused to say whether union financial state-up new local unions. You know, SHINES AT HIS WORK—Ninety-four-year-old Peter Conomos, of Boston, Mass., says he's the nation's oldest active shoe-shine "boy." Born in Sparta, Greece, in 1863, he has been "shining 'em up" for the past 18 years.

ments filed with the government were true. Witnesses refused to say whether they knew a fellow by the name of Johnny Dio, now under indictment in the conspiracy which led to the blinding of a newspaper columnist.

They refused to say whether or deny this.

One witness also refused to say whether union financial state-up new local unions. You know, just like opening a candy store or a little night spot with tables in the back.

There is a moral in this tale of two sittings. Men are of many kinds. Labor men, too. You can question the integrity of some. You can honor others.

The American political leaders need never fret over doing both.

Spectacular Fire Destroys Huge Chicago Grain Elevator

3½ Million Bushels Of Wheat Burned; Damage In Millions

CHICAGO (AP) — A spectacular multimillion-dollar fire destroyed a huge, old grain elevator along the river front on the South Side Monday night.

Some 400 firemen fought the conflagration in the 10-story elevator in a driving rainstorm. Nearly 100 pieces of equipment, including three fireboats, were sent to the scene, 94th Street at the Calumet River, an industrial district on the far South Side.

Amid towering walls of flames, some three million bushels of

Beck Denies Rejecting 'Invitation' To Testify

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Labor leader Dave Beck has denied that he rejected an "invitation" to appear before a Senate investigating subcommittee.

Beck, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, said Monday that he had not had any free time for the past five months and added that "plans were made long in advance."

At the conclusion of a subcommittee hearing in Washington last week, Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) said Beck had turned down an "invitation" to testify on grounds of health. The subcommittee is involved in an argument with the teamsters over congressional authority to study alleged labor racketeering.

Beck did not indicate whether he backed the stand of several other teamster officials who refused to testify before the subcommittee and challenged its authority to investigate them.

Doctor's Narcotics Trial Moves Into 2nd Day

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The trial of Dr. John Corbett Coldiron, 59-year-old Dayton physician accused of illegally administering narcotics, moves into its second day in federal court here today.

Dr. Coldiron, formerly of Hazard, Ky., was a Kentucky state senator between 1947 and 1951, and an unsuccessful candidate for lieutenant governor of Kentucky. He has been practicing in Dayton since 1955.

At Monday's proceedings, Willie T. Caldwell, 28, of Dayton, an admitted former dope addict, testified he paid Dr. Coldiron $5 and $8 for daily shots of morphine taken between mid-March and Easter last year.

Asst. U. S. Atty. James E. Apelgate of Cincinnati, said the government would seek to prove that Dr. Coldiron administered the shots "for profit."

Defens Atty. James Bullock, also of Cincinnati, said Dr. Coldiron was trying to cure several dope users of their addiction.

Dr. Coldiron was arrested last May.

4 Bandits Rob 20 Businessmen Of $5,000

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Four bandits with stockings pulled over their faces and brandishing rifles held up 20 businessmen attending a meeting Monday night and escaped with about $5,000.

The holdup men entered the second-floor assembly room of the Wynnefield Civic League in West Philadelphia shortly before midnight. They forced the businessmen to lie on the floor, then took off their wallets, rings and watches.

grain were reportedly destroyed. However, firemen succeeded in saving a newly built elevator about 150 yards from the blazing 135-foot-tall structure. The new elevator contained about 3½ million bushels of wheat.

Fire officials said they expected the fire would burn "for three days" although they expected to have it under control by noon.

Some 40 pieces of equipment were kept at the scene throughout the night.

Julius Mayer, executive vice president of the Continental Grain Co., owners of the elevator, said the loss would amount to "several million dollars."

Robert J. Quinn, fire commissioner, estimated damage at five million dollars.

The flames from the elevator, fanned at times by strong winds, were visible nearly into the Loop, some 14 miles north, and attracted thousands of persons, despite the blustery weather.

Some 200 policemen, responding to the extra alarm, rerouted traffic and kept the crowd blocks from the blazing building.

No injuries were reported. However, a newsreel cameraman, Floyd Traynham, 61, of the Universal International Film Exchange, collapsed at the scene and was pronounced dead on arrival at a nearby hospital.

The elevator reportedly contained wheat, rye, oats and beans. A grain company official estimated the grain's value at about $2 a bushel.

The fire, which was believed to have started about 10 p.m. in the roof of the 63-year-old elevator, was discovered by a watchman. Only one other man was in the building at the time.

A 550-foot freighter docked in a nearby slip was showered with sparks from the burning building but the big boat did not catch fire. Tugs were unable to remove the boat and firemen kept hoses on it. The freighter had unloaded a cargo of wheat in the elevator which was destroyed. A 150-foot barge loaded with grain docked in the same slip was reported destroyed.

The elevator, of wood and corrugated metal and reportedly the oldest grain structure in Chicago, was 340 feet long and 200 feet wide.

Company spokesmen did not say if any of the grain in the elevators was owned by the government.

Builder Attacks Government 'Tight Money' Program

CHICAGO (AP)—Joseph B. Haverstick, president of the National Assn. of Home Builders, today blamed federal "tight money" policies for "preventing thousands of American families from obtaining homes they want and need."

He said if the present decline in home building is permitted to continue, it will lead to widespread unemployment among more than one million construction workers in the home building industry.

Gets Reformatory Term On Morals Count

LISBON — Gail Freeman, 20, of East Liverpool was sentenced to one to 20 years in the Ohio Reformatory Monday by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp, who refused a request for probation.

Freeman was found guilty by a jury in October of having carnal knowledge of a 13-year-old girl, and was sent to Lima State Hospital for a 60-day period of observation.

Probation was refused by Judge Sharp after it was found that Freeman's work record was poor and he also had a juvenile record.

Ambassadors of Good Will

It was with a sense of pride that Salem citizens, scanning their TV screens Monday afternoon, watched the local American Legion Quaker City Band march past the presidential reviewing stand during the inaugural parade in Washington, D.C.

Salem is fortunate to have such an able musical organization to act as "ambassadors of good will" in spreading the name of Salem far and wide. As Ohio American Legion champions, for two consecutive years, the band was honored in receiving the invitation to join the inaugural parade, marching right behind Ohio Governor C. William O'Neill in the procession.

Thus is written a new chapter in the history of the Salem Quaker City band, twice state champions and twice runners-up nationally in Legion competition. With continued home-town support the band undoubtedly will achieve top national fame.

Our congratulations are extended as the band returns home.

Everybody's Budget

The question in everybody's mind about the federal budget is why it cannot be cut when even the people who compiled it say it is too big.

The right answer to that question, reveals the greatest danger which threatens representative democracy.

Every commentator down through the years who has guessed the outcome of the world's most daring experiments in popular government has stressed the danger of public spending.

They have been unable to see how a government responsive to popular opinion and public pressure ever could withstand the urge to spend itself silly.

During the period when the urge finally was given free rein — the Roosevelt era — Franklin D. Roosevelt himself warned against wrecking the republic on the "rocks of a loose fiscal policy." Harry Hopkins, his right-hand spender, is credited with a cynical formula for staying in power — spend and spend and elect and elect.

The pressure for spending comes from the people, themselves — the citizens who demand as individuals and as members of groups more and more services and benefits and are grateful to politicians for giving them their own money.

Every time an arm in the federal government is twisted to get an appropriation for some local benefit or personal advantage, the arm-twisters have contributed their mite to a $72-billion budget — and that's only the beginning.

It may not occur to citizens what they are doing when they demand highways, airports, pensions, better public services and more of them, security from menaces at home and abroad and financial rescue from all money dilemmas from crop failures to school buildings.

They are doing exactly what alarmists have been saying they would do. They are milking the federal government like a cow.

They are forgetting who furnishes the fodder to feed the cow. They get alarmed only at feeding time, never at milking time.

Millions see no connection between what they expect to get from Washington and what Washington expects to get from them.

But the connection is there.

If what you are in favor of doing, or if what you already have done, has added a single penny to the federal government's cost of operation, you are as much of an expert on the size of the federal budget as the secretary of the treasury, the director of the budget, President Eisenhower, or any of the millions now screaming that $72 billion is too much.

What are you willing to give up to make it smaller? What public improvement, what public benefit, would you forego in the interest of budget reduction? Highways, airports, a global air force, postal service, social security, the FBI, subsidies to business and agriculture, the campaign to keep Communism from spreading?

Basic Principle

Gov. O'Neill's appointment of Robert B. Krupansky to direct the Ohio Liquor Department and Capt. Floyd C. Moon of the Ohio Highway Patrol to chief of liquor law enforcement will leave no room for doubt that a basic principle of government is being followed in selecting the O'Neill administration's top figures.

Ohio's new governor is betting his political future on the integrity and ability of the best qualified men he can draw to his side. Mr. Krupansky had worked in racket investigations for the Ohio attorney general's office under Mr. O'Neill. Capt. Moon is one of the reasons Ohio's Highway Patrol has won unique prestige for flawless performances of public duty.

These typical appointments are good omens for the success of the O'Neill administration. They reflect an attitude that has had a profound effect in the federal government these last four years — that elected officials owe it to the jobs they hold to surround themselves with the best administrators public money can buy and private money can't touch.

Perpetual Threat

By DAVID LAWRENCE

War Clouds Inaugurations This Century

Inaugurations come and inaugurations go — but wars or threats of war seem to go on forever. Every administration since the turn of the century has been deeply engrossed in the problem of war — either through the participation of Americans in wars or through efforts at disarmament and the prevention of enlarged conflicts at arms.

On March 4, 1925, President Coolidge was inaugurated after having succeeded to the office at the death of President Harding in August 1923.

The period was marked by efforts to get universal approval of the Kellogg-Briand treaty to "outlaw" wars of aggression. But while 62 nations signed it, nothing was pledged by any country as to what action would be taken if an aggressor did start a war.

On March 4, 1929, Herbert Hoover was inaugurated President. He strove for world peace and sent American delegates to Geneva for an international conference on limiting armaments. But the conference failed.

In 1931 Japan moved into Manchuria and Secretary of State Stimson called upon Britain and the other powers of the world to denounce the aggressor and do something about it. But the effort failed and the aggressor went unchecked.

ON MARCH 4, 1933, when Franklin D. Roosevelt was inaugurated, Adolf Hitler had already become dictator in Germany a few weeks before. Then the sequence of events began that led to World War II.

Italy invaded Ethiopia. The League of Nations faltered. Hitler seized Austria and then Czechoslovakia. The Spanish civil war — beginning in July, 1936 — saw Communists and anti-Communists from other countries participating on opposite sides.

In November, 1936, Italy, Germany and Japan formed a military alliance which was to be broken up only after the worst war in all history.

Mr. Roosevelt was inaugurated in 1937 as the world was moving toward a global conflict. Japan began her war against China that same year.

Due to the world situation, the American people disregarded for the time being their tradition about confining Presidents to two terms and elected Franklin Roosevelt to a third and fourth term in 1940 and 1944, respectively. America entered World War II in 1941, and suffered more than a million casualties.

The world crisis continued as President Truman took over in 1945. He was inaugurated in 1949 in the midst of desperate efforts to save Europe from economic collapse. Also 12 nations, including the United States, organized the Nato alliance.

Just 18 months after his inauguration came another crisis in the Far East as America found herself sending more than a million boys to participate in the bloody war in Korea started by the Communists.

The clamor for peace — for some device to persuade nations to refrain from fighting each other in war — has continued throughout the decades. It is reflected in the policies of President Eisenhower as expressed in his inaugural addresses in 1953 and 1957.

BUT THE WORLD still moves toward more crises — now in the Middle East and in eastern Europe.

THE ANSWER CAME just 33 days later when the President asked Congress to ratify a "state of war" with Germany.

On March 4, 1951, Warren Harding was inaugurated President and he called a disarmament conference of the major powers concerned with the Pacific in an effort to stabilize conditions in that area. Limitation of naval armament was agreed to along with several treaties pledging mutual consultation.

There was a pact to bar the use of poison gas and unrestricted submarine warfare. Meanwhile in Europe, France and Belgium soon moved troops into the Rhineland to enforce the payment of German reparations. A situation began to

Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit of India on her country's peace efforts.

I am not in favor of letting the Milton Eisenhowers, the Hoffmans and the Stassens decide when and where we should fight — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.), attacking President Eisenhower's advisers as "dangerous."

We do not wish to be forced into a position of competition with the U.S.S.R. on its own terms; but Russian emphasis on science and mathematics, particularly in secondary schools, lends added weight to the need for scrutinizing our own educational system closely. — National Science Foundation in sixth annual report to President Eisenhower.

God's creature is one. He makes man, not men. His true creature is unitary and infinite, revealing himself, indeed, in every finite form, but compromised by none.

develop which became more and more critical for the whole world. On March 4, 1925, President Coolidge was inaugurated after having succeeded to the office at the death of President Harding in August 1923.

The period was marked by efforts to get universal approval of the Kellogg-Briand treaty to "outlaw" wars of aggression. But while 62 nations signed it, nothing was pledged by any country as to what action would be taken if an aggressor did start a war.

On March 4, 1929, Herbert Hoover was inaugurated President. He strove for world peace and sent American delegates to Geneva for an international conference on limiting armaments. But the conference failed.

In 1931 Japan moved into Manchuria and Secretary of State Stimson called upon Britain and the other powers of the world to denounce the aggressor and do something about it. But the effort failed and the aggressor went unchecked.

ON MARCH 4, 1933, when Franklin D. Roosevelt was inaugurated, Adolf Hitler had already become dictator in Germany a few weeks before. Then the sequence of events began that led to World War II.

Italy invaded Ethiopia. The League of Nations faltered. Hitler seized Austria and then Czechoslovakia. The Spanish civil war — beginning in July, 1936 — saw Communists and anti-Communists from other countries participating on opposite sides.

In November, 1936, Italy, Germany and Japan formed a military alliance which was to be broken up only after the worst war in all history.

Mr. Roosevelt was inaugurated in 1937 as the world was moving toward a global conflict. Japan began her war against China that same year.

Due to the world situation, the American people disregarded for the time being their tradition about confining Presidents to two terms and elected Franklin Roosevelt to a third and fourth term in 1940 and 1944, respectively. America entered World War II in 1941, and suffered more than a million casualties.

The world crisis continued as President Truman took over in 1945. He was inaugurated in 1949 in the midst of desperate efforts to save Europe from economic collapse. Also 12 nations, including the United States, organized the Nato alliance.

Just 18 months after his inauguration came another crisis in the Far East as America found herself sending more than a million boys to participate in the bloody war in Korea started by the Communists.

The clamor for peace — for some device to persuade nations to refrain from fighting each other in war — has continued throughout the decades. It is reflected in the policies of President Eisenhower as expressed in his inaugural addresses in 1953 and 1957.

BUT THE WORLD still moves toward more crises — now in the Middle East and in eastern Europe.

THE ANSWER CAME just 33 days later when the President asked Congress to ratify a "state of war" with Germany.

On March 4, 1951, Warren Harding was inaugurated President and he called a disarmament conference of the major powers concerned with the Pacific in an effort to stabilize conditions in that area. Limitation of naval armament was agreed to along with several treaties pledging mutual consultation.

There was a pact to bar the use of poison gas and unrestricted submarine warfare. Meanwhile in Europe, France and Belgium soon moved troops into the Rhineland to enforce the payment of German reparations. A situation began to

Wintery Weather Moving East

Eastern U. S. Enjoys Mild Temperatures

By The Associated Press
Wintery weather moved into the central part of the country and chilled Western areas, but it was mild in most of the eastern third of the country today.

Rain or snow fell in many sections. Rain extended over the Gulf states. Wet weather was reported from the upper Mississippi Valley westward across the Northern Plains into the Rockies and in the Pacific Northwest. Heavy rain hit sections from the southern tip of Lake Michigan southwestward into the lower Mississippi Valley.

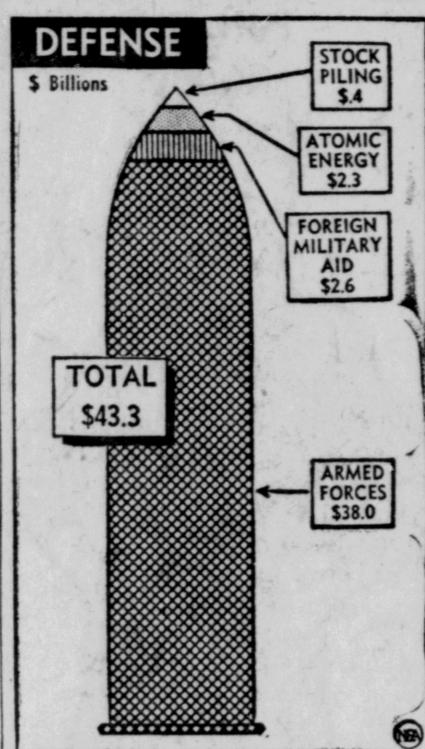

Cold air headed into the Great Lakes region, the middle Mississippi Valley and the Southern Plains. It was below zero from Montana eastward across the Northern Plains, with readings ranging from -10 to -20.

In contrast to the cold weather moist tropical air spread over the Eastern areas and temperatures were in the 40s and 50s from the lower Great Lakes to the Atlantic and in the upper 60s along the Gulf Coast.

Guarding Your Health

By Dr. EDWIN P. JORDAN

Retroental Fibroplasia
A number of interesting problems connected with the raising of children have been brought up by correspondence to this column recently. One mother asks for some discussion of retroental fibroplasia.

This is an eye disorder of premature infants. It is serious and has resulted in a good deal of concern on the part of pediatricians, eye specialists and others. It is now known to be caused by giving too much oxygen to premature infants. For this reason the procedures of giving a good deal of oxygen over a prolonged period to premature infants has been discontinued and the amount of retroental fibroplasia has been greatly lessened.

One of the most curious problems is the condition known as pica. This is a situation in which a child (though a grownup may also have pica) develops an abnormal appetite for some strange substance such as plaster or flour and swallows these substances in large quantities.

The origin of pica is not too well understood. However, it was brought out in a study of six children with lead poisoning, published early in 1956, that all of them had developed this illness as a result of pica. Furthermore, studies of the children and their mothers suggested that several factors in the early relationship between the two contributed to the development of the pica.

These were, first, encouragement by the mother of the child's excessive oral activities; second, significant separations of the child from the mother; or third, emotional problems of the mother which interfered with a good mother-child relationship. This implies that the development of pica is some kind of emotional response resulting from poor adjustment of the child, particularly in its relationship with its mother.

Mrs. P. has written that her 13-year-old son has been afflicted with a swelling around his left knee, which has been labeled Osgood-Schlatter's disease. She adds that this does not mean anything to her and she would like to know something more about it.

This disorder is a partial separation of certain tissues of the knee joint which appears to be caused by sudden or continued strain placed upon these tissues during exercise. Back of this there may be some disturbance of circulation. It usually develops in active boys between 12 and 15 years old and is especially common among those who ride bicycles. It is associated with some pain, tenderness and often enlargement.

The outlook for recovery is good and the symptoms usually respond favorably to treatment. Quite often immobilization of the joint by splint or plaster of Paris cast for five weeks or so is desirable. Occasionally, in severe cases, surgery is necessary. In other words, this is a well-known orthopedic problem.

Defeated In Love, Mechanic Crashes To Death In Plane

NEW YORK (AP) — Defeated in love, a young airline mechanic's helper penned a suicide letter declaring "I am really nuts." Eight hours later he crashed to his death Saturday night in a $100,000 airplane.

"They'll never be able to stop me once I get on the runway," wrote 20-year-old Allan Adler of Brooklyn.

The two-page semiliterate letter outlined in detail Adler's suicide plans. It was written Saturday morning but never mailed to its intended receiver, Adler's chum in the Air Force.

A Civil Aeronautics Board official, investigating the crash at Idlewild Airport, found it Monday in Adler's locker in the hangar of Pan American World Airways, Adler's employer for 14 months.

Adler told his friend, 17-year-old Daniel O'Leary of Brooklyn, who is stationed at the Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.:

"... If I were you I wouldn't feel too bad about my dying because I don't & anyway you wouldn't want to go with a crazy guy — and I am really nuts. . . .

"... Right now my hand is shaking like a leaf, and I ain't scared because I always wanted to fly & tonight I'll get my chance. I'll be on my own at the controls just like I've been alone always."

Adler told his friend that he had "brock off" with a girl friend named Lynn but planned to see her just once more because you see tonight when I go to work I won't be coming back home anymore — you know what I mean by that. . . . I've thought this out mighty carefully and logically. . . ."

That night, Adler stole out behind the hangar where he worked and jumped into a twin-engined DC3 owned by his employer and used for training purposes.

He started down the runway, received clearance from the tower and took off. The plane climbed to an altitude of 200 feet before it crashed to a concrete runway of Idlewild. The plane was demolished and Adler was dead.

Before young Adler's letter was found, his parents said they thought their son's childhood desire to be an airline pilot prompted the unauthorized flight. They were surprised, they said, that he took his life because of the girl named Lynn, a person they never knew.

2 Men Claim Phone Firm Told Them To 'Get' Union Leaders

PORSCMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Testimony of two men before the National Labor Relations Board that they were ordered by officials of the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. to get four union leaders "out of the picture" was denied by the company today.

Company charges of unfair labor practices against the union are the subject of the hearing, under way here for several days. The Communications Workers of America Union has been on strike against the company since last July 15.

The witnesses, James R. Tindal and William Kerr of New Castle, Pa., testified they were hired by the company last Sept. 1 to investigate cable cuttings and other vandalism.

Jr. Baseball Recognition Dinner Set

Salem's Junior Baseball League will hold their annual recognition dinner program Wednesday night at 6:30 in the American Legion Home.

A special supper will be served by two Ohio Defense Corps Companies that are located in Salem. Lt. Arnold Popa, mess officer for Co. A, will be in charge of preparing the meal. The meal will be served army style.

Cy Butler, national president of the Hot Stove League and other national and state officers will be present. Mayor Dean Crammer will head the list of special guests.

It is hoped that 400 or more boys and young men will be able to take part in the 1957 program.

The program started in 1950 with three teams and now 24 teams take part. The Salem Junior Baseball Leagues is a project of the Char-H. Carey American Legion Post 56.

Herman stated that the first meeting of the league officials and team managers in each class will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. at the American Legion Home.

party." The President, sipping tomato juice, added, "In fact, everywhere."

They all returned to the White House at 12:42 a.m.

Best Parade I've Seen

The President also told friends Monday's inaugural parade was "the best parade I've ever seen." He described it as "less of the raggedy, strolling kind of thing." Four years ago, at his first inauguration, the big procession kept him in the reviewing stand until well after darkness fell.

Monday, a shorter army of marchers moved smartly. The parade lasted about an hour longer than the optimistic schedule called for, after a late start.

It brought a colorful column of bands and uniforms, precision marching units of the armed services, flower-decked floats with pretty girls in evening dresses aboard — and the grim symbols of modern warfare — missiles, big and small, developed by the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Eisenhower's flashing smile faded away each time one of the deadly missiles rolled past the stand.

But the big grin came back when Miss Burma, a Republican elephant, came ambling past. The pachyderm halted, rose on her hind legs and raised her trunk in a solemn salute.

Standing near the presidential reviewing stand were two men who played vital roles in Eisenhower's life recently.

One was Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist who supervised treatment when Eisenhower was stricken in 1955. The other was Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton who operated on him after an attack of ileitis nine months later. White told reporters the President "apparently is in excellent health" now.

Tindal testified that an Ohio Consolidated official instructed Tindal and four others hired by the company "to get any one of four union leaders out of the way by any means we saw fit."

"We might run them down in an automobile or run them off the road," Tindal testified.

He told the board a company official expressed belief that if any one of four top union officials were removed from the picture "the strike would disintegrate immediately."

Tindal and Kerr further testified they were unable to find who was responsible for vandalism in the strike.

After the hearing, the company issued this statement:

"The trumped up charges obviously were manufactured and will delude no one."

"They are so absurd as to insult the intelligence of any thinking person. The company will not submit to this sort of libelous attack and will promptly take appropriate action."

Tindal also testified that he and four other men were dismissed after working four days.

He testified a company official said "we were of no further use to him because our work was confined to surveillance and investigation and that what he wanted done was to get any one or all of these men out of the way."

In Columbus, negotiations to settle the strike remained deadlocked after a seven-hour bargaining session Monday night, a federal mediator reported.

Man Contests $1 Share Of Wife's

1½-Million Estate

NEW YORK (AP)—A husband is contesting the $1 share left him in his wife's estimated 1½-million-dollar estate. He wants a half-share as widower.

The husband is 67-year-old Giovanni Imperato, a one-time viola player with the New York Philharmonic Symphony. He now is hospitalized as a cardiac patient.

His wife, Mrs. Esther Belle Wheeler Imperato, 62, died Dec. 3 leaving more than half her estate to charity, a sizable amount to a woman friend and a jewelry collection to the Marceline, Mo., Methodist Church.

Mrs. Imperato, heiress of a wealthy Missouri family, poet and actress, drafted her will Oct. 19, 1954. In it she explained why she left only a dollar to her husband.

"It is not made with any lack of love or gratitude for him... He has shared with me always an antipathy for men who profit from their wives' possessions, either during their lives or after their deaths," she wrote.

Imperato implied there apparently had been some misunderstanding about the subject.

The will was filed for probate last Tuesday. In additional papers filed over the weekend contesting the will, Imperato also told Surrogate Samuel De Falco that his wife never had discussed her financial status with him. Also, he said, the total amount of her estate came as a complete surprise.

He charged that the friend, Miss Elizabeth Mitchell, exercised undue influence in drawing up the will, which he said was fraudulent.

Imperato said he wants half the estate as the legal widower. The judge reserved decision.

'Down On The Farm'

News of Meetings, Helpful Hints For Farmers

Tax Returns Are Due

Farm operators who have paid any farmhand as much as $100 in cash wages during the year 1956 must file an employer's tax return for agricultural employees, according to William J. McCauley, district manager of the Social Security Administration.

The "hypodermic" was a specially constructed stainless steel harpoon which discharged the drug through gas pressure.

Dr. Frank G. Nolan, Los Angeles osteopathic physician and head of the expedition, said they had hoped to take an electrocardiogram of the whale. The huge mammal's heart beats between 10 and 15 times a minute, compared with the 70 to 80 in humans.

"By taking an electrocardiogram of a whale, we may find something which can be reflected to cardiovascular research," Dr. Nolan said.

It was an hour before the drug took effect on the whale and he dropped out of formation with the other whales.

"That's the one we want," Dr. Nolan shouted.

The Coast Guard cutter gave chase but lost the carefree drug-loaded whale in dense fog and rain.

Dr. Nolan said the project was similar to that of Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist who treated President Eisenhower. Dr. White made several attempts with whales last year off Baja California, using harpoons with an electrode attached to permit an electrocardiogram to be taken from an accompanying vessel.

Poultry Outlook Good

The poultry industry expects another year of record production in 1957, says Paul Clayton, Ohio

State University extension poultryman.

Production of eggs, commercial broilers and turkeys may exceed last year's record crop, Clayton predicts, but prices may be slightly lower, with the possible exception of broilers.

Egg prices are likely to continue below their 1956 level during the first half of this year, Clayton says. Prices during the last half of this year will be influenced by the number of replacement chicks purchased in the next few months.

"If the current poor egg prices discourage replacement stock purchasing," Clayton notes, "this could cause more favorable prices in the last half of 1957. But as egg production becomes more specialized or commercialized, it is more difficult for farmers to shift to other enterprises. This tends to keep production at a high level, even though prices are not favorable."

The production of commercial broilers has increased almost every year since the 1930s, Clayton points out, and 1957 doesn't appear to be an exception. If the increase this year is only moderate (around 5 per cent), prices should be better than last year.

At present, production is about 7 or 8 per cent above last year.

Clayton sees more turkeys at slightly lower prices in the turkey picture for 1957. Prices received last fall by growers were below a year earlier; still prices improved at the end of the season. This may encourage growers to expand operations in 1957. Clayton predicts the relatively large supply of turkeys in storage likely will keep prices below the 1956 level during the early part of this year.

Salem Freshmen Beat Alliance Squad 69-60

By BOB JULIAN

Posting their sixth victory in seven starts, the Salem High School freshman cage team downed the Alliance State St. quintet 69-60 last night on the Alliance court.

In the absence of head coach Sam Priddy, Vince Crawford directed the Quakers to victory.

Salem led all the way with quarter scores of 27-11, 46-28, and 61-43. The Quakers were in command right from the opening gun when they moved out to a 4-0 margin which they held on to for the entire tilt.

IN THE INITIAL stanza little

Davy Hunter led the 27-point onslaught as he pumped in five baskets for 10 markers.

The second frame was all Salem again as the Red and Black peppered the hoops with regularity and outscored the hosts 19-17. Paul Herman and Tony Everett paced the locals with six tallies apiece in the canto.

Alliance, seeming to catch on to the Quakers fast brand of ball, battled the Red and Black on even terms in the third period as both teams meshed 15 markers each. Ricci of State St. dropped in 10 points from two field goals and four of seven free throws to spark the Alliance five.

Salvage Fleet Hits Two Snags In Suez

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP) — The U. N. salvage fleet trying to clear the Suez Canal has suffered two time-consuming setbacks.

In Port Said Harbor, three powerful U. N.-chartered cranes lifted the scuttled Egyptian tug Hercule to the surface. Then a 1½-inch steel cable broke and the heavy tug settled to the bottom again — the third time efforts to raise it have failed.

Forty-three miles south of Port Said, divers found explosives in the wrecked Egyptian dredger Edgar Bonnet. Attempts to raise the hulk were postponed temporarily.

The U. N. fleet hopes to clear a channel through the waterway for shallow-draft vessels by early March and to open it completely by May. Some 50 vessels were sunk in the canal during the British-French invasion.

HOW ABOUT IT, KIDS?

In which of these two pictures do these high schoolers look more attractive — and self-respecting? At the James N. Kieran Junior High School in New York City, the Student Council itself voted to ban the sloppy outfits seen in the top picture. The council voted approval of conservative clothing such as that in the lower photo. Students doing the modeling are, left to right: Stephen Bruno, Marilyn Miller, Leonore Clubinsky and George Klein.
